Description:

The history/social studies curriculum has taken a back seat to the language arts/math curriculum. In order to ensure our students develop an appreciation of our country and world cultures, this workshop will address teaching the content area through children's literature. Instructor will introduce non-fiction text features, introduce content related books (grade level appropriate), and share teaching strategies for squeezing history into the curriculum.

This will be a make and take workshop where participants will be given the opportunity to make a model end project for three of the previewed titles.

A content-related bibliography will be shared with participants.

Note: If you have registration questions, please email registration@salemcollaborative.org or call Jim Kearns, CPMSIE Executive Director at 781-771-4860.
